

Address of the Irish Temperance Society in Boston to their countrymen in America.—There are many excellent things in this pamphlet, worthy of the good cause in which the Society is engaged. The only chance of the political salvation of the Irish Emigrants, (to say nothing of their spiritual) depends upon their habits of temperance. All those who become intemperate will necessarily become slaves in the hands of their employers, no less than their habits have made them slaves to alcohol. We recommend this address not only to be read by those to whom it is addressed, but likewise by all those who are interested in the means of elevating a valuable portion of the laboring population from the depths of ignorance and vice, and of raising their posterity to a moral level with the genuine sons of New England. In whatever light we may regard the Irish Emigrants, their children will be citizens of our own country, and upon the kind of education, moral and intellectual, which they receive, will depend in a great measure, the progress of political improvement. If this class is reared up in ignorance and vice, so far as their suffrages can have any political influence, every good work will be retarded. Let us not neglect, therefore, that class of people by whose improvement in morals and education many political evils may be averted.

Hear ye!—We have received from Roswell Saltonstall, of New York, Duke of Rignarole, "Peer of England, Knight of the Legion of Honor in France, and King of the Two Sicilies," a Proclamation which he desires us to publish, and which is devoted to the contradiction of a rumor set afloat by his enemies, that he is a member of the Chichester Gang, and one of Helen Jewett's mourners. We hardly think it will be best for us to publish the Proclamation, but we will do him the justice to say that he denies the truth of the accusation with very indignant feelings.

Among the unfortunate men belonging to Col. Fanning's detachment, at the time of its massacre by the Mexicans, was "E. S. Heath, of Mass.," supposed to be Ebenezer Smith Heath, son of the late Capt. Wm. Heath, of Charlestown. We have seen two letters written by the latter individual, the first dated at Braxton, Oct. 28, and the second at Fort Defiance, March 10, in both of which he speaks with patriotic warmth of the cause and prospects of his adopted country, and expresses a determination to devote his life, if necessary, to secure her liberty and independence.

The last Pittsfield Sun contains the following paragraph:—
"The present number of the Sun completes thirty-six years since the paper was established in this place by the Senior Editor. During the period above stated, the Sun has adhered, without the least wavering, to Democratic principles—to those Jeffersonian Republican doctrines, the ascendancy of which in our National Councils, with but brief intervals, has elevated the country to its present distinguished position, and presage still brighter and more glorious days."

True to the Letter.—An Irishman stepped into a lawyer's office yesterday morning, and said—"Plaze your worship, I have wrought two days for Mr C—, a stevedore, at $1.50 per day—I went to him on Saturday night for my pay, and he told me to go to the Devil; so I come, your worship, to see what you would be after doing for me."

It is said that the two female slaves who were recently abstracted by a black mob from a court of justice in this city, have been taken to Halifax, much against their inclination. The public would like to be informed if any steps have been taken to bring the rioters to justice.

It is calculated that the number of insane persons in the State of New Hampshire is four hundred and fifty-two. The papers in that State are urging upon the Legislature the expediency of establishing an Asylum for these unfortunate members of society. It is to be hoped their efforts will prove successful.

A Dartmouth College student recently made up his mind to chastise the editor of the Newport Spectator, but changed it, before he struck a blow—he was wise; these attempts to whip editors don't amount to much, generally.

A portion of the splendid service of plate presented to Com. Decatur by the citizens of Baltimore, is to be sold at auction to-day by Whitwell, Bond & Co. We hope some patriotic individual will purchase it, that it may not be melted down for bullion.

The Tremont Theatre opened last evening with the sterling comedy of Speed the Plough. The house has been newly painted and embellished, and is in capital order—the stock company is first rate, and the stars engaged are both popular and numerous. The house was well filled.

A dog, exhibiting all the symptoms of hydrophobia, was killed in High street yesterday afternoon, about five o'clock, just as nearly three hundred children belonging to the Boylston school, were dismissed. He was killed by a woodsawyer, who deserves the thanks of the community.

The Pulaski Guards made their debut yesterday, under the command of Gen. J. L. C. Amee. They have a fine uniform, and made a very soldierlike appearance.

JUVENILE OFFENDERS.—A writer, under the signature of "Howard," came out in the Courier of yesterday, with a couple of queries respecting an alleged judgment, reported in the Atlas, sentencing a boy, convicted of theft, to the House of Reformation. "Howard" calls for chapter and verse in the Revised Statutes authorizing the sentence; and we can say, that the law is there, but he might as well look for a needle in a bundle of hay, as the page which contains it. There is no friendly reference in the index, and in company with a very learned gentleman, continually employed in administering both civil and criminal law, we yesterday hunted through the volume for nearly an hour without lighting on it. Wherever it might be reasonably supposed to be, there it is not. It may be found, however, in vol. 3, Gen. L. Mass. p. 144—1825, chap. 182, and has been incorporated into the Revised Statutes, without any alteration in its provisions. It is a law very liable to misconception and perversion by interested parties, who may easily state a case against a child in such a manner as to render it the duty of the Court to enforce it; and we have always regarded it with an evil eye, since we became acquainted with the circumstances of a case, several years ago, where an unprotected daughter of thirteen, instead of a depraved and dissipated father, became the victim of an unrighteous prosecution. The recollection of the harsh sound of savage stripes on her bare back in the middle of the night, even now sends a quiver through our frame. This revolting chastisement was inflicted for a more accident. The girl had let a little child fall, and it was crying in consequence of the hurt it had received, when the father came into the house. He was somewhat under the influence of liquor, and became furious at his daughter's supposed carelessness. She fled from the house to a relative's, where he pursued her and brought her home on the same night. At three the next morning, a stage called to convey us to another State, to report a celebrated capital trial, and we did not return for five weeks—but then learnt that on the Monday following our departure, the girl had been sent to the House of Juvenile Offenders, because she had hid herself for some days from the unforgiving wrath of her father, and had threatened to flee by water to New York; for

"She could meet the raging of the sea
But not an angry father."

She behaved well in the House of Reformation, and was put out to a respectable family in the country, but what has become of her since we know not. In this case it undoubtedly never entered into the minds of the Court that there were two sides to the question. We afterwards narrowly watched similar prosecutions, and gave pretty serious offence, by our strictures, to one or more worthy citizens, who were prone to have an agency in originating such suits.

But to return to the case in the Atlas, instanced by Howard. The judgment is not given in the report in its technical form, which is, "that the defendant be sentenced to the House for Juvenile Offenders, to be dealt with according to the rules and regulations for the government thereof."

Sec. 2, of the act referred to, provides that children convicted of criminal offences, vagrancy, idleness, begging, &c. may be sentenced to said House by the Police, Municipal, or Supreme Courts, with the proviso, that after formal notice, the Directors of said House assent to the reception of the children so convicted.

Sec. 3, provides the same for idle and dissolute orphans, or children uncontrolled, neglected, or abandoned, by incompetent, poor, or vicious parents.

Sec. 4, gives the directors power to place such children at useful employments, and cause them to be instructed in useful knowledge—and also to bind out females till they attain the age of 18, and the males till they are 21 years of age, to arts, trades, &c.

Sec. 5, provides that the directors, if they deem it expedient to discharge any minor, not bound out, may by writing recommend the same to be done by the court which sentenced such minor.

This section is a sort of safety-valve to prevent the abuse of the law.

As to the constitutional point about trial by jury, started by "Howard," it is sufficient to say, perhaps, that in all criminal cases, where the Police Court can convict, an appeal to a jury is open; and also civil and criminal suits for malicious or groundless prosecutions against a defendant.

We would remark that the boy, whose sentence drew forth "Howard's" article, was clearly proved to be an incorrigible pilferer.

Municipal Court.—Joseph Drew, who under divers false names, has fraudulently overdrawn at the Hancock and Traders' Banks in this city, and at other banks in the principal business towns in this State, and at Portland, was yesterday convicted on two indictments for knowingly and designedly defrauding the Hancock Bank, without the jury leaving their seats.—He was learnedly defended by H. H. Fuller, Esq.; but Mr Parker was allowed to introduce evidence of his fraudulent transactions with the other banks, to prove his intent in overdrawn at the Hancock Bank. Sentenced to one day solitary and four years in the State Prison for the first offence, and three years for the second. Mr Fuller claimed an appeal. There were witnesses from ten different banks present. Both indictments were submitted at the same time to the jury.—The principal credit of discovering Drew belongs to Benjamin H. Barnes, of the Atlas Bank, and the next to his brother William L. Barnes, belonging to the Hancock Bank.

High Water and Tide in the Great Lakes.—There is a prevalent opinion, on the borders of these great inland seas, that they have a regular flow and ebb, each movement embracing 7 years. The same traditional notion generally exists, we have found, in the vicinity of small lakes on Long Island, that of Ronconoma Pond, for example, in Suffolk Co. It is stated, positively, that the tide ebbs and flows in Lake Michigan as in the sea. This is said, in the Hall-owell (Canada) Traveller, to be the 6th year of the rise of Ontario. The Toronto Albion avers that the waters of this lake are, this year uncommonly hard, and cannot be used for washing, in consequence of containing an unusual quantity of lime, brought in by the melting of the immense quantities of snow of the past winter, as they run through the limestone regions that abound in that country. All the speculations about tides in the great lakes must fall to the ground, if the opinion of the late Dr. Mitchell be correct, which it probably is, that those seas are gradually undergoing a process of draining by the St. Lawrence, and have been so for ages, as is evinced by the organic remains found in the great basin of the West, which they once covered, and also by the traces of the former shores, from whence the waters have receded.—N. Y. Eve. Star.

Louis Philippe, after the late attempt of Allibeu to assassinate him, is said to have spoken of the fact that Henry the Fourth escaped assassination two-and-twenty times, and was murdered on the twenty-third. The reflection must have been very consoling to the Citizen King.

Escape from a Shark.—The Portland Advertiser relates, that on Friday, a young man by the name of Lovett, went a few miles outside the lighthouse in a small boat, for the purpose of catching mackerel. While he was fishing, he observed a very large shark playing around the boat, by which being considerably troubled, his line being tangled, the mackerel driven away, &c, he struck him with his oar, when, as he supposed, the shark left the boat. In a few minutes, however, he discovered the shark making toward him in a direct line, with great speed, and immediately threw himself back in the boat. At the same instant the shark rose from the water and went directly over the boat, just clearing it, and disappeared on the other side. In this unpleasant situation Mr. L. did not remain long, but pulled for the shore with all possible despatch.

Foreign Items.—The trial of Alibeu is to take place immediately, and with secrecy. He was to be indicted simply for an attempt to murder, without reference to its being the King, whose life was aimed at.—The Emperor of Russia has granted to the Academy of Sciences at St. Petersburg, the sum of 50,000 roubles, for the purpose of making a survey of the Black and Caspian seas.—The Prince and Princess of Capua, arrived at Lusanne on the 19th, on their way to Italy.—The Hon. Mrs Norton visited the Zoological Gardens on Sunday, with her sister, Mrs Blackwood, and a large party of fashionable.—The author of the well known Marseillaise, M. Roget de l'Isle, died at Chouilly-le-Roi, on the 26th June, at the age of 76.—Macready had been tried for the assault on Bunn, and a verdict returned for the plaintiff £150. The damages were laid at £2000.

Trouble in Missouri.—The St. Louis Commercial Bulletin of the 18th inst., states that in the neighborhood of Grand River the Indians have murdered several of the white inhabitants. Two men were found dead in a harvest field, and at a short distance off, the bodies of three women were found—and several children have been carried off. In consequence of the threatening aspect of affairs, orders have been issued to the several volunteer companies in that State, to hold themselves in readiness to march whenever called for.—These outrages have been committed by the Ioway tribe—but it is feared that there will be a general rise among the Shawnees, Potawatamies, and other tribes.

The Baltimore Chronicle gives a new receipt to prevent the ravages of the Hessian fly. A farmer in Washington county, Md., several years since, found it impossible to procure a sufficient number of laborers to collect his abundant harvest of wheat. Fearful of losing it, he began, against the advice of his friends, to reap it several days before it was fully ripe. The grain thus cut before the proper time was laid by and used for seed the next year. The fly laid waste the fields of his neighbor while his was spared, and he gathered another plentiful harvest. He repeated the experiment with success, and this year his crop is abundant as usual. He supposes that the fly deposits its eggs only upon the wheat when perfectly ripe, and, of course, that grain cut in an immature state escapes it.

Yesterday at dusk, two young men were seen driving at full speed over the neck in a chaise, from Roxbury; they appeared to be unmindful of those who were continually passing the street, and reckless of their own lives. On arriving near the line, the jaded horse stumbled and fell, and both were thrown out of the chaise upon the pavements, one of the young men fell between the wheels, which passed directly over his neck, he was so dreadfully injured, that it was thought at the time, he would not recover.—*Mer. Great Sale.—Some five or six months since, Messrs Barnes, R. A. Varick, Corlies & Barker, purchased about fifty acres of land, directly south of the compact part of our village, for $500 the acre. Streets were immediately laid out through the whole premises, the expense of which, together with other improvements, first cost, &c., amounted to about $30,000. The whole premises were divided into 206 lots, all of which, with the exception of ten of the least valuable not put up, were sold at auction on the 3d inst., to the tune of $100,000.—Poughkeepsie Branch.

A Mr Graham of Louisville lately removed to Otter Creek. In about two hours after his arrival at his new place of residence, he missed his little son, about four years of age. After four days and nights passed in careful examination of the adjoining barrens, they found the little boy six miles from the spot where he set out, not much emaciated, and in apparent good spirits. He must have subsisted on blackberries, abundant in the barrens in the month of July.

One of the so-called whig papers of this city says that "the whig party of Massachusetts is in an imposing attitude." Certainly the leaders of said party may justly be called a rare set of imposing fellows. They have imposed upon the credulity of their party until credulity itself is worn thread-bare. The sham nomination of Mr. Webster is as great an imposition as the Boston Regency has ever practised.—Salem Com. Adv.

The New Orleans Bee expresses the belief that the movement of Gen. Gaines with his troops across the Sabine, has been made in pursuance of an arrangement between the Mexican government and our own. This belief is founded on a whisper which the Bee has heard of such an arrangement, and the improbability that Gen. Gaines should have committed himself to such a measure, without sufficient authority.

The Crops in North Carolina.—We are much gratified to learn by the Salem (N. C.) Chronicle of July 30th, that the oat crop is gathered in, and has produced an abundant yield. The corn is promising; the wheat, it is true, rather indifferent, but the prospect of peaches surpassing, in profusion, all former years, every limb of the trees being so full as to require a prop to prevent its breaking.

Benefit of Intemperance and Impertinence.—At the discharge of the watch at the upper police, yesterday morning, a gentleman of fashionable life and good society connections, who had been taken from the street grossly inebriated, was placed before Mr. Palmer, and fined by that magistrate $2—the fine usually imposed upon drunken vagabonds. The gentleman presuming upon the length of his purse and of his list of high relatives, thereupon commented berating the worthy magistrate for inflicting anything like punishment on a man of his cloth and pretensions; which Mr. Palmer cut short by informing him that for his insolence he should have $3 more attached to his fine. But this only added fuel to the fire of the gentleman's wrath, and his language to the magistrate became so unbearably insolent and abusive that the latter concluded to give him "the whole length of the string," and ordered him to be accommodated in one of the cells till his temper should have cooled a little, and he should feel himself prepared to pay a fine of twenty-five dollars and costs, making $28, for his conduct. He had not long been in durance before he sent for a friend, through whom he effected a settlement by paying the above amount; and was then suffered to depart, no doubt greatly benefited by the experimental lesson which has cost him so dearly both in cash and character.—*N. Extract from a letter received by a gentleman in this City, from his correspondent in Havana, dated Havana, July 19:

"Yesterday afternoon there was a revolt among the negroes outside of the wall. They fired a Wax Manufactory and killed a Corporal of the army. They were attacked by the cavalry and were soon put to flight—6 negroes being killed, and 10 taken prisoners who will be garroted in a few days. A skirmish also took place between 6 Highway Robbers and a party of soldiers, about 20 miles from this city, which resulted in the capture of 4 of the robbers. One Soldier was badly wounded. The prisoners were brought here and will be served the same as the negroes.

Capt Stinson, late of ship Braganza, has furnished Messrs Topliff's with the following particulars relative to the loss of his vessel. Sailed from Cadiz 20th May, with a cargo of 240 tons salt. On the 11th of July, lat 9, lon 64, the ship suddenly sprung a leak, which increased so rapidly, that they had barely time to get out boats and a supply of bread and water, saving nothing but what they stood in, before she went down, being only about 4 hours from the discovery of the leak to her disappearance. After being in the boats 12 days, they were taken in by the Atlantic, and from her the Captain, 1st and 2d officers, and 3 of the crew were transferred to the brig Adriatic, and brought to this port—the remainder of the crew proceeded to Halifax in the Atlantic. The Braganza was a fine vessel, about 3 years old. [We have heard it stated that there was an insurance of $15,000 on the vessel in this city.]

The sch Monomoy, Small, from Boston for New York, while at anchor, on Wednesday night last, near Throg's Point, and the crew turned in was discovered to be on fire, occasioned by a lamp, left in the binnacle, having upset.—A passing vessel boarded her, and around the crew, when the flames were extinguished, with some damage to the main-sail, &c.

Mr Carroll, U. S. Consul at St Helena, gives notice, that if vessels passing that Island will stand in, within two miles of the anchorage, and display their Telegraphic flags, they will be reported by a look-out on shore. He also states that he will forward all letters, &c, from or for owners and friends, without charge.

NAVY SLOP CLOTHING.

Navy Commissioners' Office, 22d July, 1836.

SEALED PROPOSALS.

Proposals for Slop Clothing, will be received at this office until 3 o'clock, P. M. of the twenty-second day of August next, for furnishing and delivering at each of the Navy Yards at Charlestown, Mass., Brooklyn, New York, and Gosport, Virginia, the following articles, viz:

- Two thousand blue cloth jackets.
- Two thousand pairs blue cloth trousers.
- Four thousand dark frocks.
- Four thousand pairs dark trousers.
- Twenty-five hundred white flannel shirts.
- Two thousand pairs white flannel long drawers.
- Four thousand black silk neck handkerchiefs.
- Four thousand pairs sewed leather shoes.
- Three thousand pairs of woollen stockings.
- Three thousand pairs of woollen socks.

All the articles are to be fully equal in quality and workmanship to the samples which are deposited at all the different navy yards, and at Baltimore. Schedules, showing the sizes of the pea and other jackets, trousers, frocks, and shirts, and the manner in which they are required to be made, are also deposited at each of the said navy yards, and at Baltimore, for the information of persons who may wish to make proposals.

The silk handkerchiefs must be fully equal to the samples, in size, quality and weight. The stockings, socks, and shoes must be of assorted sizes, and at least four-fifths of the whole quantity of each must be larger than the samples.

The whole must be delivered in good, tight, substantial and dry packing boxes or headstuffs, and in good shipping order, at the expense of the contractor.

The proposals must be made separately, for the shoes, for the stockings and socks, and for the other articles—and they must be made separately, also, for the quantities deliverable at each navy yard, as distinct contracts will be made for each.

One-fourth of the quantity of each article for each navy yard must be delivered on or before the first day of January, 1837—one-fourth on or before the first day of March, 1837, and the remainder on or before the first day of May, 1837, or as much earlier as the contractors may prefer.

Persons making offers must stipulate specifically that they will furnish, under the contracts to be made, any additional quantity of any of the kinds and descriptions of articles mentioned in their respective proposals, which the United States of the Navy may require, within the year 1837, not to exceed one-third the quantities and descriptions named in the advertisement, upon their receiving sixty days' notice to the effect.

All the said articles of slop clothing must be subjected to such inspection and survey as the Commissioners of the Navy shall direct, by instructions to the commanding officers of the respective navy yards of delivery, and no portion of the said slop clothing will be received that is not fully equal to the standard samples or patterns, and does not conform in all other respects to the stipulations and provisions of the contracts to be made.

The prices to be asked for the several denominations of articles enumerated, must be in terms of money, and, without regard to the sizes, and must be calculated to cover every expense attending the fulfillment of the contracts until the articles have passed inspection, been approved, and received, in fulfilling the necessary metal nary buttons.

Two good and sufficient sureties will be required for the faithful performance, and within the time specified, of the respective contracts, and ten per centum will be withheld from the amount of all payments on account thereof, not to be paid until they are, in all respects, complied with, and the contractor is held to the use and benefit of the United States in the event of a failure to complete the deliveries within the prescribed periods.

Ninety per centum will be paid on all bills for deliveries accepted to the stipulations of the contracts to be made, and in thirty days after their approval by the commanders of the respective navy yards.

AUCTION SALES.

VALUABLE LOTS ON TREMONT STREET.—Roxbury, At Auction—On Tuesday, 17th August, at 4 o'clock, P. M. on the premises,

39 lots, containing in all about 200,000 feet, valuable Land in Roxbury—being on the south-easterly side of Tremont street, and opposite to the estate of Jos. Heath, Esq., and but a very short distance from the Boston line.

These are the first high lands come to on that street after leaving the city, and from their proximity to which, and the very flourishing condition of that part of Roxbury, and the rapid rise taking place in lands in that section, render these lots a great object of speculation.

On most of these lots there overhang banks of Clay and Gravel, which will every year yield a great interest for the lands, and when removed, leave the foundation valuable for building. The Clay and Gravel are of superior quality, and ready sale.

The former is favorably situated for Brick-making—being on a road where there is no toll, may be got to the city cheaply—and sales of the Gravel may be made at a great profit, to any extent that may be desired, for finishing the many streets making in the vicinity of Tremont st.

The sales will be positive, to close a concern.

By J. L. CUNNINGHAM, Office corner of Milk and Federal streets.
